Where in the world...are the Granville-Tolland Dollars for Scholars®? Help us hear from the many recipients since 1974, our first year. Spread the news, Granville-Tolland Dollars for Scholars is on Facebook and has a website, www.granville-tolland.scholarsfordollars.com . "Like" our Facebook page and share a post updating your hometown friends and neighbors. Our local scholarship recipients follow their academic paths, near and far, as noted in this month's profiles.

April Scholars' Profiles:

Stuart Kinsman is a senior at Massachusetts Maritime Academy with a major in Marine Engineering. One of Stuart's most rewarding experiences in his college career was as Company Commander. Stuart put his effective leadership skills to good use along with 13 squad leaders to guide 62 young men and women through their freshman year of regimental orientation – no small task for this enthusiastic young man. In addition to a rigorous schedule, Stuart has been a representative to the Student Athlete Advisory Committee, has had an active position in the Regiment of Cadets and was also involved in men's soccer.

"I cannot express my gratitude enough! The financial assistance this scholarship has provided will surely help me reach my career goals."

Kelsey Platanitis is currently a junior at Roger Williams University with a double-major in Biology and Chemistry, minoring in Public Health and earning a Biotechnology Certificate. Kelsey is aspiring to have a career in Human Medicine. Rewarding experiences come in various forms and Kelsey takes this seriously as a varsity athlete for the Roger Williams University Hawks IHSA Equestrian team. After very long days in class and lab, riding is Kelsey's outlet of choice as well as running. "My decision to join the team is something I'll never forget and I hope to keep the friendships and memories I make for my whole life."

In your Garden Now

By Gloria Knoener

Hello fellow gardeners. The busiest months in the gardens are approaching; usually March, April and May are very busy for all of the activities needed to clean, open, prune and plant.

Mother Nature had bestowed upon us incredible amounts of snow cover and cold temps. Activity in the gardens will be on hold until snow has disappeared and the ground has dried. So while the calendar may read spring the weather conditions belie that.

Working the soil when it is wet or damp is a major mistake. Working in wet soil with tools or walking on it promotes compaction of the soil and it takes a long time to bring that compacted soil back to health. I know this for a fact because I didn't always heed that statement and consequently I have had some pretty severely compacted soil in my gardens and indeed it did take much effort and time to get these soils back to health. SO... DO NOT WALK ON LAWNS OR SOIL WHILE WET.

If you able to walk on top of the snow now, you can prune dead or broken branches from trees and shrubs.

You might take the opportunity while waiting for spring and dry ground to clean and sharpen your tools if you did not do so in the fall, plan your new plantings or renovations, begin some seeds in your house or simply wait and dream!

Happy arrival of spring!

When in doubt, throw it out!

If a can that is "questionable" makes it into your bag by accident, check for these signs:

Do not use cans without labels. While the food may be good, we are unsure of the nutritional content

If a can is severely dented or dented at the seam, it should not be used. It may contain harmful bacteria

If a can is rusted around the seam, it should not be used.

If the lid of the can is "bubbling" or seems to have extra air in it, the contents should be discarded.

Do not use items that have been cut open or damaged such that the food inside is exposed.
